Corps of Engineers at Canyon Lake accepting applications for bow hunting

Beginning April 1, 2002, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Canyon Lake will begin accepting applications for the 2002-2003 bow hunting program for white-tailed deer. Annual deer surveys indicate that the deer population exceeds the land's carrying capacity. Permitted hunting will help protect the resource while providing public hunting opportunities.

The bow hunting program at Canyon Lake has been successfully managed for the past five hunting seasons. During that time, more than 150 deer have been harvested. The program is closely coordinated with biologists from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

To receive an application packet, please contact the Corps of Engineers, Canyon Lake Office at 830-964-3341. Specific questions or concerns regarding hunts at Canyon Lake should be directed to 830-964-3341. Persons who returned an application for last year's hunt will be mailed an application for the 2002-2003 season.
